DR. BIRKETT HAS MESSAGE FROM MAJOR GEDDES

Professor Expresses Thanks for Gift From "Friends at McGill"

The following interesting letter from Dr. A. Campbell Geddes, Professor of Anatomy at McGill, has just been received by Dean Birkett, of the Medical Faculty.

Dr. Geddes was very active in the preliminary preparations for the McGill provisional regiment, and the earlier success of its organization was due in great part to his untiring efforts toward that end.

The letter, which contains some interesting notes on the conditions in England and voices the need of trained officers, reads as follows:

Northumberland Fusiliers, Hull, England, October 25, 1914:

Dear Dr. Birkett,—A parcel arrived for me this morning containing the most beautiful pair of field glasses with a card "From friends at McGill."

Will you please thank all of them for me and say that I appreciate their kindness.

I am more than glad I came. Things are not going too well, and it is clear that every man is needed. To me it is clear that every man whose training fits him to be an officer of the rank of captain or higher rank should at once place himself at the disposal of the military authorities. The casualties have been and are very heavy. The mass of new troops is short of instructors of any sort. We have 100 recruits here with three trained officers, of whom I am one, and seventeen absolutely untrained second lieutenants. The work is hard, in fact, we are at it from 5.30 a.m. till 10.30 or 11 at night, with a half day off on Saturday, and another half day off on Sunday. My work is lecturing and demonstration, drill and administration, we expect that we shall be classed as ready for the front before very long. We know little or nothing of what is going on, and hear even less than we heard in Montreal.

The reason we are at the docks is to get housing for the men in the freight sheds. We sleep and eat on a diminutent cross North Sea passenger boat moored beside the freight sheds. The whole distrinct is stiff with troops of sorts.

It is said there are 1,500,000 men under arms in England at the present moment. We talk of nothing and think of nothing except training and the great campaign of the spring. Preparations for it are going on on an enormous scale.

Every little tailor and every little saddler is making uniforms and equipment; the railway shops are manufacturing stretchers, general service wag-

Dean Birkett Has Received Interesting Letters From Dr. Wilson and Dr. Finley

The medical school of McGill has many representatives now in training in England, and all are happy and doing well if the following letters, which have been received from the Old Country, can be accepted as a criterion. Dr. Wilson ('93), is an X-ray specialist with the first contingent, and Dr. Findley is also with the First Expeditionary force in England. The two following letters have been received by Dr. Birkett and tell of the success of McGill's alumni.

GENERAL HUGHES TO REVIEW REGT. AT HIGH SCHOOL

First Visit of Minister of Militia to Regiment

This afternoon General Hughes will address the McGill Canadian Club and the McGill regiment at the old High School after the inspection of the regiment.

General Hughes' inspection of the regiment will be the second since its inauguration, His Royal Highness the Governor-General having inspected it on October the first.

As General Hughes has just returned from a hurried trip to the firing line, his address should be doubly interesting.

Major-General the Hon. Sam Hughes, who will address the McGill regiment to-day, comes of a fighting family, and is himself a soldier through and through. There is no trace of the "pink tea" soldier about "Colonel Sam," as he has been affectionately known by the Canadian public for so many years. He believes in doing things and usually accomplishes whatever he undertakes, no matter what obstacles lie in the way.

"Colonel Sam" is a native of Darlington, Ontario, and is a man just entering his sixties. After passing through the local schools, he determined to become a school teacher, and with this end in view took up work at the Toronto Normal School. General Hughes secured a first class certificate there, and after pursuing a course at the University of Toronto, was engaged for some years as a school teacher in Belleville, Lifford, Bowmanville and Toronto. In 1885 he abandoned this profession to enter journalism, purchasing the "Lindsay Warder," a newspaper which he brought to a high level among Ontario weeklies and edited most successfully for twelve years.

General Hughes' connection with the volunteer militia dates from his teens. By the time he had reached the age of 20, he held a commission in the 45th militia regiment, with which he is still connected as honorary colonel. He gradually rose in rank, becoming lieutenant-colonel commanding the regiment in 1897. General Hughes saw service early in life, at the time of the Fenian Raid, and when difficulties arose with the Boers in 1899, it seemed only natural that he should have been among the first Canadians to volunteer for active service. The part which he played in this campaign is so well known as to make its repetition here needless. Perhaps his most noted exploit during his services in South Africa was his celebrated advance into Bechuanaland, in command of a Brit-

VARSITY ARE NOW CHAMPIONS---FOOTBALL HISTORY MADE IN GAME WHICH ABOUNDED WITH SENSATIONS

McGill Football Machine Played in Faultless Style All the Time, but Weight of Varsity Line Told

LAING AND QUILTY McGILL HEROES OF CONTEST

Three Touches Scored Within Last Five Minutes of Playing Time—"Red" Mackenzie Starred

(By Daily Representatives.)

Five minutes of playing time remained. The score was twelve to nine in favor of Toronto. McGill secured possession on the Blue and White's twenty-yard line, and by wonderful bucking got over for a try, making the score McGill 14, Toronto 12. Two and a half minutes remained before the final whistle would blow. Victory seemed certain. Varsity secured possession on the Red and White's forty-yard line. "Laddie" Cassels went around the left end for thirty-five yards, and on the next down Cassels again carried the ball, and was shoved over for a touch, making the score seventeen to fourteen. There was only a minute of playing time left, and time was called before McGill could accomplish anything. Such is the story of how McGill lost the Intercollegiate championship after holding it for two successive seasons.

Never in the history of football has there been a game which see-sawed up and down so much. First one team would have the lead and then the other, and it is positive that there will never be such an exciting wind-up to an Intercollegiate season as that which was staged at the Varsity Stadium on Saturday afternoon. The two teams which faced each other in this paly-off had battled through a strenuous season on the gridiron. Both had narrowly escaped defeat from Queen's at different times, and both had secured one victory over the other, McGill winning out in the game with Varsity in Montreal, and Varsity having the edge on McGill in Toronto. Both teams were trained to the minute, and on their toes to put up the game of their lives. Varsity were the favorites but only slightly, the reason for this being that they were playing on their home grounds. The Blue and White, also had an advantage in weight.

TEAMS EVENLY MATCHED.

Any person who was spectator at Saturday's game must admit that it would hardly be possible to imagine two teams more evenly matched than McGill and Varsity. Consequently, the contest between these two gridiron machines was bound to be close, but nobody ever thought for one instant that it would be anything like what it turned out to be. Varsity won out, because they had a slight edge on the Red and White during most of the game except in the first five minutes. Their team was stronger and that is about all that can be said. They wore down their lighter opponents.

George Laing started the trouble for Varsity when he kicked off. The ball rolled over the dead line, and although it was finally found out that this did not count for a point, the impression at the time was general that McGill had drawn first blood, right from the kick off. A minute later Quilty tore off a beautiful run for thirty yards, getting over for the first touch of the match. Varsity were oble soon after this to make a regular procession down the field by line-plunging, gaining their yards repeatedly. However, in the second quarter the McGill line tightened up and held the Blue and White bucks to a standstill. Varsity secured a touch shortly after start of play in the second half, and tied the score, which now stood seven to seven. McGill jumped ahead soon afterwards by securing two rouges. It was in the last quarter that the match was decided for Varsity were able to get two touchdowns to McGill's one during this period. Both teams played wonderful football, but several times the human element entered into the game to show that it wasn't two machines that were striving against each other. Several fumbles and misplays took place on both sides; but the wonderful work of both teams easily counterbalanced any mistakes which may have been made.

Shaughnessy and his team had fought an uphill fight during the season. After easily winning the opening game of the season from Varsity, the team lost a great deal of its strength through forced withdrawal from college.

Congratulations!

On Saturday last two of the best teams that have ever lined up against one another on any Canadian intercollegiate gridiron met at the 'Varsity Stadium. The University of Toronto boys emerged victorious after fighting an uphill game all through. The game was clean and the plays of both sides were worthy of praise. Our heartiest congratulations go to the wearers of the blue and white as Champions.

It is the tenth time that 'Varsity have won the title since the league was formed in 1898 and on not one of these occasions have they deserved it more than in the present instance. Bulldog determination won them the match in spite of the score that until the last stood against them.

McGill and the University of Toronto have been rivals in all athletics since the Intercollegiate Union was formed. Defeat at rugby should stir McGill to greater efforts at the other sports which are always so keenly contested between these two Universities.

What Are We Drilling For ?

It was announced a few days ago that the McGill Battalion has reached a strength of eleven hundred men. Only twenty students outside of the Medical Corps have volunteered for the Second Contingent. The question arises since the others have shown no immediate willingness to go to the front, What are we drilling for?

We have read, until we are sick of the sight of them, the effusions of myriads of so-called poets who seem to have sprung up, since the beginning of the war, like musrhooms in a night, and who revel in endless permutations and combinations of the same two or three ideas. They have hammered in upon us, in their maudlin strains, the "Spirit of Drake and of Wellington," "the courage of our fathers, etc.," until we have barred the "patriotic poem" from our reading.

Yet at the base of all these bombastic flights, there is a kernel of truth, and it is to this that we must go for the answer of our question. We are a people of proud traditions, which every man has, to some extent, arrogated to himself, and each of us, atom as he is in the grand scheme of Empire, feels that he will not submit to a foreign over-lordship. It is for this that we are preparing, so that if the time comes, when England shall call for further aid, whether it shall be our lot to command, or to fight in the trenches that our own spades have dug, we will answer READY.

The Graduates and The Regiment

The distinct innovation at McGill this session has been the University regiment. In this everyone is on a level, graduates, professors and students march together in the ranks and forget all formal relations in a general marching chorus. On the one hand, the formation of the regiment has diverted the students' attention from certain purely College activities, notably "TheLit.," which are prominent in times of peace; but on the other the relations between Alumni and the University have become very much closer, in fact it is through the loyal support of the graduates that the organization was made possible. A large percentage of the rank and file are past students; certain graduates who are prominent in the professional life of Montreal offered their services as company organizers, and by their popularity with the student body and with the business community were largely instrumental in bringing the regiment up to its present strength. The financial support offered was most gratifying and the first batch of uniforms supplied by graduates' money has already arrived. Not only money but time has been freely given to organization and drill, so that a body of men have been got together who are a credit to the city. In all matters of public concern it is for the University men to take the lead, and for the efficiency of a University loyal support by the Alumni is essential. We are glad this has been so spelndidly given this year, and are confident it is an augury for the future.

Special Numbers of the McGill Daily

This is the second number of the McGill Daily which has been sent out by the Graduates' Society of McGill University to all of the University's graduates. Each one of these numbers has contained, in addition to the general news published in the Daily, certain specially contributed articles of particular interest to the Graduates.

It is the intention of the Graduates' Society to send similar special numbers from time to time to its members. There is a strong possibility that arrangements will be made by which the fee paid by the graduates to their Society will cover the cost of their subcription to a regular issue of special numbers, which will be sent out at monthly or fortnightly intervals.

ish force, and his capture near Kuruman of 300 Boers and an immense stock of ammunition and animals. For this his name was mentioned in despatches, for the third time during the campaign. General Hughes acted as assistant-adjutant-general of the South African field forces towards the close of the war, and in 1902 was promoted to the rank of colonel.

"Colonel Sam" entered public life in 1891, when he stood for election to the House of Commons for North Victoria. Although defeated, he was again a candidate at the following election and was returned. He sat for South Victoria for twelve sessions, and since 1904 has represented Victoria and Haliburton in the Federal House. On the defeat of the Laurier administration in 1911, he became Minister of Militia and Defence in the Borden cabinet. Some weeks ago he was promoted to the rank of Major-General.

Grads. Respond Generously to Appeal For McGill Regiment

Long List of Graduates who have Answered Call for Funds to Equip the Regiment.

When authority was obtained from Ottawa for the organization of a Provisional Regiment at McGill, it was pointed out by the Prime Minister that while the Goverament welcomed the proposal it could not, at that time, pledge itself to incur the expense of equipping and training any military units save those which were actually being prepared for immediate active service.

Consequently it became necessary for McGill men to make arrangements by which they might themselves defray the expenses of the military organizations which they were determined to establish in Montreal. A Finance Committee was formed, which, on the first of October, commenced to collect subscriptions among the graduates and undergraduates of McGill, and from friends of the University.

The response which they received has been an exceedingly generous one. The amounts which have been asked for from individuals has been small; nevertheless, some very handsome subscriptions have been received. Enthusiastic letters of goodwill accompanied by subscriptions have come in from all parts of the world; and they are still being received. Up to the present something over $22,000 have been received.

The list given below contains the names of those who have subscribed, in the order in which their subscriptions were received. The list of subscribers will be completed in a special number of the McGill Daily, which will be issued for the Graduates' Society shortly before Christmas. Then the Finance Committee will publish an account of the work which they have done. At present they wish to convey their thanks to all of those who, in subscribing, have made their task of raising funds for the regiment a pleasant and a satisfying one.

Winnipeg Graduates Active In Industrial Development

Others Are Doing Their Sharng to Put Those Big Waterway Proing to Put Through Big Waterway Projects

Ed. Note. Short, newsy paragraphs about McGill graduates would be much appreciated from readers of this column. All that is necessary is to drop a card to the Alumni Editor. Thanks is due to those who have already contributed items of news.

McGill draws many of her undergraduates from the West. In return, she sends some of her best graduates to that section of the country. Winnipeg has proved an attractive centre for McGill alumni and from that city comes news of their success.

Mention was made last week of several officers and members of the Graduates Society who are either at the front or who have enlisted for service in the second contingent, including Capts. Northwood and MacDonald, '07, Mayor D. S. Mardy, Med., '00, and Lieut. A. A. Young, Sc., '10.

But all cannot engage in military pursuits. Donald Durham, Cc. '10, after a varied experience in South America covering almost every branch of engineering in the opening up of a large iron mine in Venezuela, returned to Canada and is now Assistant Superintendent of the Canada Cement Plant of Winnipeg. Previous to his accepting this position, he spent several moths in the most up-to-date American cement works.

A. W. G. Clark, Transportation, '10, is Engineer of Tests at the same plant.

Archie Kerr, '08, is with the Frid-Lewis Co., contractors.

Wm. Smith, '10, is with the Canadian Northern Bridge Department.

C. Harry Fox, '09, is Assistant Division Engineer with the C. P. R.

Wm. Mather, Sc., '08, is Superintendent of the Winnipeg, Fort William division of the same railway.

George Hudson, '10, has been working on the Manitoba Government Telephones System. He is now with the Bridges Engineering Co.

Dr. Waugh and Dr. Stevens, both '08 men, are building up good practices in Winnipeg.

A. C. D. Blanchard, Sc., '01, is in charge of the construction of a portion of the railway, and of the Falcon River division dyke and canal of Greater Winnipeg Water District's operations.

R. T. Sailman, Sc. '09, is in charge of Residency No. 3 on the construction railway for this $13,500,000 project.

Douglas L. McLean, Sc. '09, is Assistant to the Chief Engineer on the same works.

George H. Burbidge, '09, is with the Dominion Department of Public Works.

George Bell, '07, is Superintendent of the Dominion Bridge Co.

Prof. Fetherstonhaugh, Sc. '99, is in charge of the Electrical Department of the University of Manitoba.

That McGill men are taking a most active part in developing the natural resources of the Middle West, and in furthering the industrial interests of the country is clearly shown in the news items given above.

Clarence Pitts, Sc. 14, was in town last week on business. He is now engineer for the People's Gass Supply Co., of Ottawa.

Keith Ewart, another Sc. '14, man, has enlisted for service with the second contingent. He is now in barracks at Ottawa.

J. W. Jeakins, Arts '13, is principal of Danville Academy. He was in Montreal to see McGill defeat Queen's.

Another member of Arts '13 has risen in the teaching profession; Howard Honey is now principal of King's School, Westmount.

C. H. Harding, Sc. '14, writes from Berlin, Ont., "My work is plenty and agreeable. We have a large and up-to-date plant here (The Dominion Tire Co.), and I assist the Mechanical Engineer, having my office right among the Machine, Carpenter, and Pipe Shops. Have electricians, blacksmiths, steam engineers, etc., to look after and try to get in a little design work between."

several of its best men. The coach had as a result of this to reorganize his entire team. The product which represented McGill on Saturday is wonderful when everything is taken into consideration. There was very little to choose between the two aggregations.

"SILVER" QUILTY SHINES.

McGill's line played splendid football, smothering time and again. Varsity's heavy bucks, although the latter were protected by an almost perfect system of interference. Every man on the McGill line was on the job all the time, but perhaps the real hero of the contest was the McGill flying wing, "Silver" Quilty. No matter what part of the line a Blue and White buck or fake play tried to come through, Quilty managed to be in front of it to stop it. Also, when a man was wanted to gain the very yards which were absolutely necessary to the Red and White, "Silver" was called upon. His runs in the first part of the contest had the spectators on their feet many times. Although badly used up with a twisted ankle, the heavy man of the McGill team stuck right at it till the end. No man could have worked harder or deserved more to come off victorious in Saturday's struggle than Quilty. However, all the wings played stellar football. The tackling of Ross Laing was one of the features of the contest, while Seath worked like a Trojan throughout. Reid, Willaimson, Demuth, Ross, McCall and Greenwood were also all going strong till the final whistle blew. There was something about Saturday's game which seemed to distinguish it from other championship play-offs in that whenever the ball was put into play, every man on both teams seemed to be pulling for a gain or a tackle as the case happened to be. Never probably did a team pull harder for a victory than the McGill Rugby fourteen on Saturday, and never was there a more heartrendering game to lose.

GEORGE LAING AGAIN.

On the McGill back division George Laing was again the individual star. His kicking was a feature of the contest, besides his running, which kept the Varsity wings going hard every minute, repeatedly saved a point for the Red and White, and gained many useful yards. Shortly after the start of play, Laing was hurt in a tackle and was not quite the same man from then on. His ankle and left leg were hurt. His kicking was weaker and he had not the same assurance after this mishap. Towards the end of the contest he came back on to his kicking game, but his running was not the same as in former contests. Shaughnessy sprang quite a surprise when he trotted out Woollatt at right half in Paisley's place. The latter has been off his game for two or three weeks, while the former had been going especially well in practice. Woollatt played a fine game in Saturday's contest. He only fumbled once or twice on the catches, and these were not costly. His only fault was that he once or twice dropped the ball when tackled. His work was splendid, however, when it is taken into consideration that this was the first game in which he started out on the senior back division. He had several times played on the half line, but only as a substitute, this being his first appearance as a regular. He lasted during the whole contest, which is a remarkable fact considering all the heavy tackles which he underwent. He was the lightest man on the field. Jeffrey played good football, and when carrying the ball in the first part of the game hit the line hard, generally squeezing and wriggling through for several yards. In the second half he took Montgomery's place at quarter; but shortly after play started he twisted his ankle badly in a scrimmage and was under a severe handicap from then on. This mishap slowed him up a lot, but he gamely stuck to his duties. Paisley was in the game for a few minutes in the second half. Seath was later dropped back to the half line, Todd going on at right outside. The latter, who only made the second team late in the season, played a splendid game, blocking his cover, and also Sheehy, who was going down under kicks in fine manner. Taking all together, the McGill team played a wonderful game, and have the satisfaction of knowing that they, though defeated, went down before a wonderful fourteen, which played magnificent football during practically the whole sixty minutes of playing time.

Cassels, McKenzie, Stratton and Carr were the men chiefly responsible for McGill's downfall. Cassels was the man called upon to do most of the bucking for the Blue and White, and nobody could have better performed this duty. He hit the McGill line with the speed and weight of an express train. It was his great run in the last minute or two of play that gave the Blue and White the championship. It was his bucking which frequently throughout the contest gained their yards for Varsity. McKenzie only got into the game in the second half, but his performance during the thirty minutes he was in the game rivalled that of anybody on the field. His kicks were well placed, and of good length, while his smashing runs were always dangerous. He is wonderfully cool when in a tight corner, and frequently extricated himself from a bad hole by using his brains in fooling McGill's tacklers. It was in returning kicks that he particularly shone. The big fellow has lost none of his cleverness or ability of a year ago, and was once again one of the chief stumbling blocks in McGill's path.

Stratton, who played quarter for Varsity, played a fine game. The way in which he gets the ball out and starts the runs and bucks is fine to watch. There is a sureness and coolness about his play which marks him as a true gridiron artist. He, also, carried the ball several times himself, and although he does not tip the scales at 140 pounds, he managed to get through for substantial gains more than once. Carr repeated his performance of two weeks ago, and played wonderful football, catching and running to perfection. Gage, also, deserves great credit for the way in which he directed the play of his team. The Varsity captain did an immense amount of work himself, and at the same time proved himself an exceedingly adept gridiron general. Varsity used a style of play which was bound to be effective, and throughout the game never seemed to throw away an opportunity by poor head work. Sheehy was too closely watched to get away with any of the work which has marked his play in former contests. Sinclair, at right outside for the Blue and White, played the best game of his career.

VARSITY'S INTERFERENCE.

No account of the game would be anywhere near complete without a mention of Varsity's splendid interference, which is now allowed by the Intercollegiate rules. On their end runs and wing bucks they protected the man with the ball in almost impregnable style. They also opened holes in the McGill line which were wide, and easily noticeable from the side lines. The McGill secondary defence were thus called upon to do a great deal of tackling. On many of their line plays the Blue and White would have every man but the quarter up on the line, thus getting every available player either running with the man with the ball or making interference. Shaughnessy only played two men on the back division, Laing and Woollatt, throughout the game. This allowed the other half back to work on the secondary defence. McGill's new plays, namely, the "H" plays, in which a second line of interference forms up back of the regular wing line worked well and were what made it chiefly possible for Quilty to get away for his great runs. The "X" and "Y" formations did not net any great gains for the Red and White, as Jeffrey, who was using them, was too lame to get them started quickly enough to be effective. Several times early in the contest the Varsity wings broke through on George Laing before he could get his kicks away, but the line tightened up towards the latter part of the game and gave him much better protection.

The nervous tension both on spectators and players during the game was awful. These two teams were so evenly matched and a slip was liable to result so disastrously for the side making it, that each player and spectator seemed to be right on edge when every play was started. Towards the end of the contest pandemonium broke loose, and the crowd surged on the field. When Cassels made his run, nothing could keep the Varsity supporters back, and they crowded round the teams, making a wait necessary, till the field could be cleared. As soon as the crowd was off the gridiron, Varsity scrimmaged the ball and the Varsity bleacherites again had to be driven back to the side lines by detachments of the Toronto police force. Nobody in the stands could see what was taking place on the field, but they were able to gather from the yells and cheers that Varsity had been successful in going over for a try. There was a tremendous crowd at the game, which naturally went wild over the result. A gallant little band of McGill rooters stuck it out till the last minute. Even when there was only a minute left to play, and Varsity had just scored their last touch, the McGill yell was heard, being given by these loyal supporters urging their team on.

The officials were the best which have handled a game in many years. Many old fans and football critics who were on hand for the contest said that they never saw a better handled contest. The decisions were given in a manner which allowed of no dispute, and scarcely ever did Gage or Montgomery, or Jeffrey, after Montgomery and Paisley were both off, question a decision. Holding was strictly penalized, as were all forms of illegal interference. Impartiality and fairness are the two words which best express the work of McEvenue and Hendrie in Saturday's contest.

VARSITY CHAMPIONS.

Varsity are now champions of the Intercollegiate Rugby Football Union. For the first time since he took charge of the McGill squad, Shaughnessy has failed to return to winner. But there is one consolation. There never has been a game nor is there ever likely to be a game in the Intercollegiate which will be a better contest to watch. The result was ever in doubt from start to finish. The two teams were so evenly matched that a breath of wind, a slippery spot on the field, might have been the deciding factor in the contest.

The field was perfect, being dry and not too hard, while it was at the same time just right to give the players a firm footing. There was scarcely any wind, but what little there was, shifted so often that no team could be said to derive any special advantage from it.

McGill will now hang up their football togs for this season. Varsity may play-off for the Dominion championship. It was rumored in Toronto on Saturday night that the Hamilton-Argo tie would be played off this Wednesday afternoon. The winner of this contest will then have to play the champions of the O.R.F.U., and then Varsity will play the winners of this match in the final championship contest. It would appear that this game could very advantageously be staged as a Christmas attraction.

THE PLAY.

Varsity won the toss and chose to defend the northern goal. George Laing kicked off for McGill, the ball soaring over the heads of the whole Varsity team and rolling to the dead line. McGill 1, Varsity 0.

On the first down Adelard went around the end for ten yards. Lindsay kicked to Jeffrey, who was downed at centre. On the second down G. Laing broke away and went 20 yards towards the Varsity line. Quilty bucked over for a touch on the first down. Laing failed to convert. McGill 6, Varsity 0.

On an exchange of kicks McGill gains five yards. Varsity wings break through and throw back Laing for a loss. Lindsay tries for a field goal, and Laing is caught behind the line with the ball. McGill 6, Varsity 1.

LAING INJURED.

Laing is injured, but after a short delay continues. Quilty runs through Varsity line for 60 yards. With McGill ball on Varsity's 20-yard line Laing tried a drop. Carr ran the ball out to his five-yard line. Varsity gain yards on bucks. On Varsity interference McGill secures ball on Varsity's 20-yard line, and Carr is held for a rouge on Laing's kick. McGill 7, Varsity 1.

Jeffrey makes yards on trick play. On Laing's kick, Varsity secures possession on their five-yard line. Varsity now started a march up the field, going through for tremendous gains on line plays. Quilty injured in making tackle, but continues. First quarter over. McGill 7, Varsity 1.

SECOND QUARTER.

Jeffrey steals the ball and breaks away for gain. Montgomery injured, Carr manages to work his way out with the ball after Laing's kick. Lindsay punted to Laing, who was downed on Varsity's 35-yard line. Reid and Quilty go through for gains. Quilty is again injured. On Laing's kick Sheehy is forced to roughe. McGill 8, Varsity 1.

On Laing's long punt, Sheehy is held at centre. Sheehy runs for 35 yards. Montgomery injured in tackling him. Play at McGill's 25-yard line with Varsity in possession. Lindsay punted high to Woollatt, who was downed behind his line for a rouge. McGill 8, Varsity 2.

Laing gathers in loose ball on his five-yard line on Woollatt's fumble. On Laing's kick Sheehy is downed. McGill in possession at her 40-yard line.

Play at Varsity 35-yard line with Varsity in possesion. Sheehy's long punt brings play to McGill on her 35-yard line. Laing's kick blocked. Varsity has ball on McGill's 30-yard line. Although he has the wind, Lindsay fails to gain on exchange of punts with Laing. McGill playing better defensive game now. Quilty goes through for 40 yards on end run. Half time score: McGill 8, Varsity 2.

SECOND HALF.

"Red" Mackenzie goes on the Varsity back division at half-time, while Paisley is with the Red and White. Jeffrey is playing quarter, with Montgomery off. Laing breaks away for 40-yard run. McGill ball on Varsity's 25-yard line. Laing tries for field goal and kicks into scrimmage. Varsity, however, lose the ball on interference.

McGill ball at her 35-yard line on MacKenzie's kick in touch. McGill lose ball for interference. Ross Laing injured. Play at midfield. Lindsay breaks away and carries to McGill's 25-yard line. Varsity gain yards on bucks. McGill cannot stop Varsity line plays. Hughes gathered in loose ball and goes over for a try. McGill 8, Varsity 7. Carr fails to convert.

McGill ball on Varsity's 35-yard line. Laing kicked into touch. McGill 9, Varsity 7.

Carr runs ball to his 40-yard line. McGill gains ball at midway. Laing kicks. MacKenzie returns kick to half way. McGill playing a kicking game. McGill try Z formation. Woollatt makes gain of 30 yards on end run.

Carr is apparently downed for a rouge, but play is called back for no yards. Woollatt makes another gain around end. Quilty, however, loses ground. Third quarter over, McGill 9, Varsity 7.

LAST QUARTER.

Quilty injured. Woollatt loses ball while attempting to run back MacKenzie's punt. Varsity ball on McGill's 40-yard line. Laing catches a punt behind the line, but runs it out. Varsity ball on McGill's 40-yard line. McGill is on defensive. On exchange of punts, McGill secures possession on her 15-yard line. Quilty goes through for gain.

McGill fail to gain on Z formation. McGill holding Varsity wings well. Woollatt downed on his 15-yard line in catching MacKenzie's kick. McGill gets ball at half way on Varsity's interference. Carr nabbs long pass and gets away for twenty yards. MacKenzie tries drop kick from 40 yards out, but fails. Laing grabs MacKenzie's punt on his 2-yard line. On first down Laing relieves the situation and runs ball out for 20 yards. On Laing's kick MacKenzie runs ball to McGill's 30-yard line. Laing fails to gather in kick and Gardiner falls on ball for try. Varsity 12, McGill 9. Carr fails to convert.

McGill are fighting hard. On capturing a loose ball, McGill gains possession on Varsity's 15-yard line. McGill gained yards on bucks. Jeffrey went over for a try. McGill 13, Varsity 12.

Varsity ball on McGill's 40-yard line. Laddie Cassels goes around end for 35 yards, and on first down is bucked over for a try. McGill 14, Varsity 12. Game over.

The line-up was as follows:—

McGill.		Varsity.
Quilty	Flying wing	Gage
Jeffrey	L. half	Sheehy
G. Laing	C. half	Lindsay
Woollatt	R. half	Carr
Montgomery	Quarter	Stratton
Greenwood	L. scrim.	Horner
McCall	C. scrim.	Gardner

duates, in distant parts of the world, who are not so far from their Alma Mater that they have forgotten her, on the allegiance that they owe both to their foster-mother, and to their country.

Although the number of dollars received does not coincide with the number of McGill's graduates, the response to the circular of the Graduates Society has been practically a unanimous one. Many of the graduates, resident in Canada, sent nothing to the fund because their obligations in their own communities engaged all their resources. Others, who are citizens of the United States or of other countries, regretted that it was scarcely appropriate for them to subscribe to a fund which was definitely a Canadian National one, but expressed an approval of the action which the Graduates Society was taking and wished to assist their Society in its work. In a letter sent out to such persons on September 15th, the Graduates Society gave an opportunity to them to subscribe towards the expenses of the activities which the Graduates Society was undertaking. The response to that letter was an extremely generous one, and already considerably over $800 has been received.

A list of those who have subscribed to this fund will be given in the next special number of the Daily, and the Graduates Society will then issue a statement of the way in which the money has been employed.

BASKET[illegible] HAVE TO TURN OUT TO PRACTICE

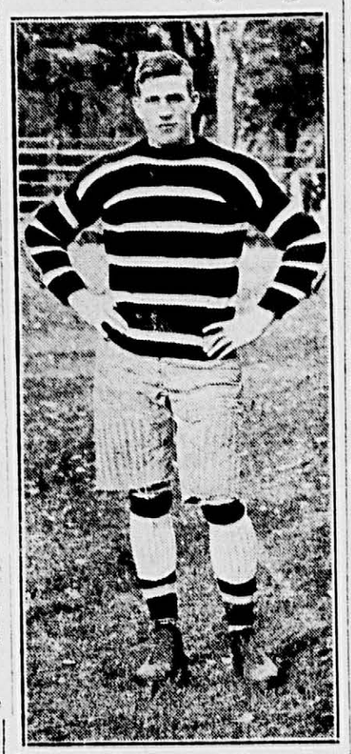
Usual Numbers at Practice Are Falling Short This Year

The Basketball Club practises on Saturdays at 6.15. Perhaps some of the men did not know this but one thing is certain, more men must come out somewhat regularly if the club is to be a success. Now that football has been ended for the year some more men should turn out. It is absolutely necessary that every man who has played the game either here or elsewhere should turn out if McGill are to have a team or teams worthy of the name. All will be given a fair trial by Manager Conover.

The hours of practice are:
Tuesdays at 7.15 p.m.
Thursdays at 5.15 p.m.
Saturdays at 6.15 p.m.

The following are especially requested to turn out, Montgomery, Seath, Edson, Hyndman, Kemp and Williscroft.

"Silver" Quilty



Former Ottawa College Star, who played phenomenal football Saturday.

OTTAWA COLLEGE ASKS TO BE ADMITTED TO INTERCOLLEGIATE HOCKEY LEAGUE THIS WINTER

Even before one of the greatest football matches ever staged on a Canadian grid-iron had started, the members of the Intercollegiate Hockey Association were making plans for the coming winter. Since the match in Toronto on Saturday brought together men from all three colleges a special meeting of the executive was called at the Prince George Hotel for Saturday morning. This was a meeting that should have been held some time ago, but owing to the fact that President Ramsay had gone to the war the meeting was not held until Saturday when President Roberts brought the men together.

Ottawa College has once more asked for re-admittance to Intercollegiate company, this time in hockey. A request was received from the Ottawa men that they be allowed to join the ranks and play hockey this winter. The executive decided that the different clubs be asked their opinion on the subject and their vote should be sent to Secretary DeMuth. If these votes are in favor of admitting Ottawa to the league, Otto DeMuth will have to draft a new schedule, but if the clubs cannot agree the subject will be left over until January when the annual meeting of the Association will be held.

There has long been a demand that Intercollegiate Hockey be put on the level with the O.H.A. and other amateur leagues in Canada. With this end in view the executive considered the adopting of the O.H.A. rule for the forward pass. The dividing up of the game into three periods with five minutes rest between, instead of the customary two halves, was also brought up. This as well as the above rule concerning the forward pass, will be sent to the different clubs and their note taken on the subject. So it is very likely that there will be some new changes in the Intercollegiate rules this winter. The executive also decided to submit to the clubs the following concerning the referees:

"That each college appoint four referees, and the official for each game shall be decided upon by the competing teams from this number. Thus there will be a good sized number of competent referees to officiate at all the games and the clubs should have no trouble over their selection.

The replies of the different clubs to these questions will be sent to Secretary DeMuth.

The annual meeting will be held in January when the President who is to be chosen from Varsity this year, will be elected. The time table for the season is as follows:

Jan. 22nd—McGill at Queens.
Jan. 30th—McGill at Toronto.
Feb. 5th—Toronto at Queen's.
Feb. 13th—Queen's at McGill.
Feb. 20th—Toronto at McGill.
Feb. 27th—Queen's at Toronto.

The home games of McGill and Varsity will be played on Saturday afternoon while Queen's will play on Friday night. The fololwing were the men present: President Laurie, Roberts, Secretary Otto DeMuth. Toronto: E. Jupp; Queen's; Wilson. McGill; "Wop" Stewart.

The annual meeting of the Varsity Hockey Club was held in Toronto Friday evening with a large number of players in attendance. Oficers for the year were elected as follows: Honorary president, Dr. Gallie; president, William Milne; vice-president, Vic. Gilbert; secretary, Ernie Jupp; manager of intercollegiate senior team, "Duke" West; honorary coach, Dr. Roy Thomas.

The prospects for the coming season were reviewed by those present and are considered wonderfully bright when it is remembered that only two of last year's team, Ernie Jupp and "Rat" Henley remain at college this year. A lot of promising material, however, is on hand, including Vic. Gilbert, goal fo rlast year's Argo team; Defoe, who played defence for Queen's two years ago; Lowe, of Stratford, and Sandercook, of Woodstock.

Varsity will take the usual Christmas trip to New York and Boston this year, while Cleveland have also requested the Blue and White to pay a visit there. Yale and Dartmouth have written to Toronto, asking for dates to play Varsity there.

Grads. and Friends of Medicine Remember Their Library

One of the most faithful contributors to the Medical Library, whose history, as Prof. Hall observed years ago, is the history of the Faculty, is McGill's esteemed graduate, Sir Wm. Osler. Dr. Osler's considerations are always of a practical and tangible nature. From mtime to time he makes valuable additions to the already famous collection of books and medical souvenirs. These gifts which are frequently antique are received with enthusiasm by the Library Committee and guarded very jealously.

Another staunch friend of the Library is Dr. Casey Wood, Chicago, a noted eye specialist who gives freely of his remarkable collection of books on opthalmology.

Through Dr. Wood's munificence the Library is able to procure all the current journals relating to this special branch of medicine.

In recent years the Faculty Library has valuable additions from the professional Libraries of Dean Craik, Dr. Fenwick, Dr. Macdonnell, Dr. Allan Ruttan, Dr. J. C. Cameron, all deceased; also from Dr. Wm. Gardner, who has always been a friend of the McGill Medical Library.

AMBULANCE FOR ACTIVE SERVICE

Divisional Field Ambulance Recruiting is Now Going on

Among the several military units now in process of organization for Overseas Service, McGill will have a special interest in the Field Ambulance.

Including ten officers, the total war strength of a Field Ambulance is 243 of all ranks. There is in addition a reserve force of 23 men, one of whom is a sergeant, who will be left at some military base when the others go to the front.

The organization of this unit is in he hands of Captain Philip Burnett, a graduate in medicine of the class of 1900.

Dean Birkett, who is a medical officer of long experience, being a lieutenant-colonel of the Army Medical Services, has interested himself in the corps. He and Captain Burnett addressed a meeting of the medical students on Wednesday of last week. The attitude of the Faculty of Medicine is warmly sympathetic, showing itself in its willingness to give recruits among the students certain concessions, in the matter of their standing in the faculty.

McGill is to be represented by at least seven of the ten officers of the unit. Among the non-commissioned officers and men, it is hoped that the students will have a creditable number. One arts student and about nine medical undergraduates are already enrolled.

Recruiting is making active progress, and will probably be practically complete about the middle of this week.

Any of the students who desire to enlist should do so at once. They are requested to give their names in at Dean Birkett's office before going to the Ambulance Headquarters in the Armories on Craig street.

Recruiting hours at headquarters at from 11 a.m. to noon, from 4 p.m. to 5.30 p.m., and from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m.

McGILL ALUMNI SEND NEWS FROM CANADIAN CAMP.

Nov. 5, 1914.

Dear Dr. Birkett:

As you see we are still in England, on the most wonderful training ground I ever saw, miles upon miles of what looks exactly like prairie land—long, deep, undulating ground — with innumerable shallow little valleys looking like nothing so much as a deep rolling ground swell on the Atlantic—the celebrated Downs of Wiltshire—noted for its sheep.

Here at intervals of three or four miles, the Canadian Contingent is quartered—foot, horse and artillery. Dr. McLaren, of St. John, N. B., is in charge of No. 1. General, and Cameron and Finley in charge of surgery and medicine; Forbes, orthopedist; Johnson, of Vancouver asst.-surgeon; Ellis, formerly of the Rockefeller Instit., biologist and pathologist; Lomer, of Ottawa, sanitary officer; Hunt, of Port Arthur, nose, throat, eye and ear; R. Campbell is also here, Wylde, asst. in medicine; while yours truly, not having any X-ray apparatus (not delivered yet), is wasting his fragrance on the desert air of two medical tents, and "desert air" is no figure of speech either, for there is air, plenty of it, with a vis-a-tergo, truly startling accompanied almost every night and sometimes all day with a drenching rain.

Our tents are not as good stuff as the Canadian ones—more accommodating to the ingress of rain—but we have hospital beds—lots of blankets, a portable bath, coal-oil heater, oil lamps, tables, chairs, etc., and a fairly decent mess.

Yesterday we were inspected by the King, Queen, Lord Roberts, Earl Kitchener and Staff. The Kink looks much older, and good old Bobs carries his 82 years like a spring colt. Kitchener is taller, stouter and whiter than I had pictured him. But Bobs was Bobs—the idol of the Englishman's heart—and it is indeed hard to control the tightening cords as the old war-horse goes by, leaning just the barest trifle on his cane—and judging by the expressions of the men—more forceful than polite—there were few who would not imitate the followers of the lieutenant who took "Lung tung pen" if only "Bobs" Bahadour were leading them!"

Hope things in Montreal are going as usual, if not a bit better! My kind regards to enquiring friends, and with kindliest remembrances to yourself.

Believe me, sincerely,
ROBT. WILSON.

No. 1 General Hospital, Canadian Exped. Force, Salisbury Plains.
Nov. 1, 1914.

My Dear Birkett:

We are all under canvas on this vast plain, and about three miles from a couple of small villages. The Hospital and Field Ambulance are all together on a hill with ten doors facing the north-east. If we could only get a building instead of leaky tents we could do all the work for the Canadian Contingent. However, none of us wish to complain realizing that we are a very small cog in an immense machine, and we hope for better opportunities later. It looks to me that No. 1 will stay here for some time. I have forty or fifty cases with five assistants, including Wylde, Shanks and Corbett, of St. John, N.B.—all very competent men. The experience is useful in learning the routine of a military hospital. We have had several cases of Epidemic Meningitis—I am trying to get serum which I believe we ordered, but left in Quebec Most of the cases are muscular rheumatism, influenza and bronchitis.

General Alderson has made a very good impression on the men. We hear that Kitchener and the Staff in France have no doubt about the issue of the war. The men sent to the front are well trained and as you can read in the scanty reports are much more than holding their own.

I hope to take three days leave in London shortly. We are well fed by Harrod's at 1s. daily, the government paying 5s. If we are extravagant on 3d. cigars we can manage to spend about 4s. daily. To get anywhere, however, is costly. We are badly in need of a motor, but hope to have one shortly.

Remember me to all my medical friends. Your little watch has been invaluable. With kindest regards,

Yours sincerely,
FRED G. FINLEY.

Canadian Universities Men Meet Militia Department In Conference at Ottawa

University Situation, Regarding National Affairs During War, Discussed by Representatives of Canadian Universities and Department of Militia

In the last number of the McGill Daily, sent by the Graduates' Society of McGill to the University's graduates, the events which led up to the issuing of a pamphlet on "The War, its Cause and Problems," by the Graduates' Society, were described.

This pamphlet, which was sent out on the 22nd of October, resulted from a series of interviews between the executive of the Graduates' Society and the Federal authorities at Ottawa. The object of the pamphlet was to point out to the graduates of McGill and of other universities resident in Canada, the duties, responsibilities and opportunities which the war had created and thrust upon them. Chief among the activities which have grown out of the interest of University men at McGill in these things, as described elsewhere in this issue, are the growth of the regiment and the doings of the Graduates' Society.

Activities similar to those at McGill are taking a very important part in the life of every university and educational institution in Canada. The nature of the functions which universities can properly undertake have been more or less clearly defined by a meeting which was held at Ottawa early in November.

In response to a suggestion from the Graduates' Society of McGill University, that representatives of every university in Canada should meet in conference at the Department of Militia at Ottawa, in order that steps might be taken towards definitely formulating the part which the Canadian universities should play in national affairs during the war, a meeting was held in Ottawa on Saturday morning, October 31st. Representatives were present from McGill University, Toronto University, Queen's University and Mount Allison University.

As a result of that conference, the following propositions received the unanimous ratification of the Department of Militia and of the universities represented.

1. The necessity for immediate training a large number of Canadian men in the art of war, for home and foreign service, is recognized and accepted.

2. Since officers will be greatly needed for active service, machinery should be provided at every university, through which every university man, desiring to assume the responsibility of an officer, will have every opportunity afforded him for becoming trained and qualified as an officer. This machinery already exists in the form of a contingent of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps at some of the universities. It would be well were a vigorous contingent of this body established at every university in Canada.

3. The professional training of men in the faculties of Science and Medicine, as well as the training of those who have qualities such as knowledge of languages or of organization, which would be useful in the various specialist military units, must not be lost. Men possessing such training should be urged to enter units of the medical, engineering, artillery, transport or other special services, rather than to serve as a private in an infantry regiment. It will be the policy of the universities to train as many of their members as possible, so that they may become qualified to serve as officers.

4. The contingents of the Officers' Training Corps established and to be established, in the various universities, will, with additions and omissions, suffice for the training of men for specialist and combatant units, up to the point where their instruction must be completed by the service which they intend to join.

5. There are undoubtedly in each university a number of men, without special training and without the wish to become officers, who desire to volunteer for active service in combatant units. It is desirable that these men should serve together as a universities regiment, or, if insufficient in number for that, as one or two companies of some battalion. The existence of university battalions or companies will satisfy the desire of the university men to serve together and to be under the immediate control of their own officers. In expressing this opinion it is realized that probably most of the troops sent from Canada in the future will be used in maintaining the battalions already sent to the front; and that it is improbable that entirely new units will be sent from Canada.

6. The establishment in each university of a Canadian Officers' Training Corps would supply the first part of the training of men intended for officers, for specialist and for combatant units. In addition, special training should be provided at each centre by such specialist units as may be authorized by the Department of Militia for each university, upon the responsible request of the institution concerned. Steps to secure such special training have already been taken by at least three of the universities.

7. While men should be urged to qualify themselves so that they may give the best service of which they are capable, all possible instruction and facility should be given by the universities to those who through opportunity or inclination, are determined to go from them for active service at once.

8. Arrangements will be made by which those taking a set course with an Officers' Training Corps will receive from the Department of Militia a certificate stating the nature of their training and certifying to their qualifications to become an officer in the Canadian Militia.

9. It is expected that it will be convenient to arrange for a camp which will commence at the end of the present college year, probably in May, 1915. In it would be gathered, for a final six or eight weeks' training and examination, all those university men, who then volunteered for active service either as combatants or specialists. The Department of Militia would endeavor to provide the necessary instructors and equipment of the camp, for the proper training of the men in infantry and other specialist units, as might be required by the department at that time.

10. It is desirable that every university should make such allowances in its courses and time-tables as may be necessary to give its members full opportunity for drills or other military training. Several universities have already expressed their intention of making allowances in their requirements in favor of those who have offered and will offer themselves for active service.

11. It is also desirable that the universities should so arrange their courses that all of those who desire to attend the camp in the spring will be able to complete their work and examinations for the year, several days before the camp commences.

DO YOU KNOW HIS ADDRESS?

Graduate Society Anxious to Locate Men Whose Names Appear Below—Read the List Then Send Any Information to the Secretary or to "The Daily"

The Graduates' Society of McGill University has asked "The Daily" to publish the following list of McGill graduates whose present address is uncertain. Communications which have been sent by the Graduates' Society to these men, at the addresses now registered for them with the University, have been returned through the dead-letter office, or have elicited no acknowledgment. In some instances it is possible that those addressed may no longer be living. Everyone is requested to read this list of names, and, in case they can furnish any information concerning the addresses of anyone of these graduates ,to communicate it to the Secretary of the Graduates' Society, Mr. William Stewart, 160 St. James Street, Montreal, Canada.

It is especially desirable that the addresses of the University's graduates should be correctly known, at the present time, since none of them could fail to be interested in the various communications which the Graduates Society is sending out from time to time, in order that every McGill man, past as well as present, may completely realize and feel he is part in the not insignificant means which the University, as a body, is taking in order that it may bear its full share of the responsibilities and duties which the war has created.

REGIMENTAL ORDER NO. 3

Lt.-Col. Robert Starke, Commanding McGill University Battalion.

Parades:— Montreal, November 21st, 1914.

On Monday, November 23rd, at 4.45 p.m., the Regiment will parade at the High School Building, Metcalfe Street, for inspection by Major-General the Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia and Defence.

Officers' Qualifying Class, C and D Companies will be held on Tuesday, 24th November, 5.15 to 6.30 p.m. in the Engineering Building.

A. R. CHIPMAN,
Captain and Adjutant.

Battalion Parade on Saturday March Out to M. A. A. A. Grounds Successful Work of Signallers

Two Hours Drill—Only About Half of the Eleven Hundred Men Turn Out

Following the usual routine, the McGill Battalion had a full afternoon parade yesterday.

At 2.15 p.m. the four companies fell in along Burnside Place, outside the Peel Street Armories. The officers were: Colonel Robert Starke, Captain Allan Magee, Captain Gregor Barclay (Company "A"), Captain J. C. Kemp (Company "B"), Captain George McDonald (Company "C"), Captain W. G. Turner (Company "D"). Rifles were served out and the battalion moved off up Metcalfe street, along Sherbrooke and down to the M. A. A. A. grounds in Westmount, arriving there about 3 o'clock. The battalion was then put through a strenuous two hour's drill. This drill was varied, being composed of platoon, company and battalion work.

On the arrival at the grounds there was a smooth layer of snow, about eight inches deep, over the ground. This was soon packed down and then stirred up so that it resembled sand, underfoot.

The march back was along Dorchester street, Stanley and along Sherbrooke.

In order that some of the football news could be conveyed to the regiment the signal corps was used to transmit the messages from the Union to the M. A. A. A. grounds. Three stations were necessary, one on the campus, one on the new look-out, and one at the grounds. Flags were used as none of the other equipment has yet been received. Messages were sent between the stations until the light failed. The results of the game to the end of the second quarter were sent to the regiment. This was the first time that the distance was great enough to necessitate the use of glasses and the messages went through very smoothly.

On the way back, the news was received by the regiment that McGill had defeated Varsity, the cheering was vociferous till someone from an upper window on Stanley street shouted, "Cut out the noise you farn fools, McGill didn't win." Then there was a dead silence.

After a few words from Colonel Starke, in the Armories, announcing the inspection by Major-General Sam Hughes to-day, the Battalion was dismissed.

Active Service

While the number of recruits from the undergraduate body of McGill was not large enough to warrant a special McGill Company being formed in one of the Battalions which have been formed in Montreal, those who have joined have all been placed in one section. While some of the McGill men have enlisted in the A. M. C. and other divisions of the Second Contingent a majority has enlisted in the Westmount Rifles under Col. Fisher. Those forming the special section are: E. C. McCullagh, Arts; W. Bearisto, Sci. '17; A. Williamson, Sci., '14; G. H. Cartwright, Sci., '17; H. Dawson, Sci., '15; J. H. Reid, Sci.; Donald; G. Gilbert, Sci., '15; C. G. Porter, Sci.; L. McNab, Sci.; R. H. Parkes, Arts; D. H. Deckett; F. M. Brown, Arts and Theo.; J. B. Waller; T. J. Beageley, Sci.; E. H. Jordan.

McGill Graduates Giving Unanimous Response To The Appeal of Graduates Society

Over $2,500 Already Received—Money to be used for the Provision of those Dependent Upon Men at the Front

On the twentieth of August the Graduates Society, in order to give McGill men, as a body, an opportunity of publicly expressing their convictions, sent out a circular in which the graduates of McGill University were asked to send $1 to the secretary of the Graduates Society of McGill University.

The object of the subscription was not to obtain money for the Canadian Patriotic Fund, to which the dollar subscriptions were sent; but to put on record the determination of every man who sent in his dollar to do all that lay in his power to further the cause of our civilization in beating back the part of the German aggression.

As might have been expected the response was quick and very unanimous. McGill has about five thousand graduates, or these approximately four thousand are in Canada, one thousand in the United States, and a few hundred in different parts of the world. Up to the present $2,800 have been sent in patriotic votes, and this money has been turned over to the Canadian Patriotic Fund at Ottawa. The object of this Fund is to provide for those dependent upon men now on active service. The sum is not an insignificant one, but its chief value is that it demonstrates to the whole world that those taught at one of the foremost educational institutions in Canada as a unit in facing the world. Even yet subscriptions are coming in in ones and twos from McGill gra-
